

WEBSITE OF THE MONTH

The screenshot shows the homepage of the American Payroll Association (APA). At the top left is the APA logo, a circular emblem with 'APA' in the center. To its right is the text 'AMERICAN PAYROLL ASSOCIATION' and 'Service and Support for the Payroll Industry'. Below this is a horizontal navigation menu with buttons for 'ABOUT APA', 'PRESS', 'EDUCATION', 'PUBLICATIONS', 'CERTIFICATION', 'SEMINARS', 'LEARNING CENTER', 'LINKS', 'NEWS', 'RESOURCES', 'CAREER', and 'WHY US'. On the left side, there is a vertical sidebar with a search box and buttons for 'HOME', 'SITE MAP', 'APA STORE', 'MEMBERS ONLY', 'CALENDAR', 'NATIONAL PAYROLL WEEK', 'PAYROLL AND HR', and 'PAYROLL FACTS'. The main content area features several articles: 'Professional Development' with the subtext 'Support your career with professional certification, seminars, courses and payroll training.', 'Compliance Update' with the subtext 'The post, form, education and calendar to keep your operation in compliance. New Tax Dates, Pub 15-T released. Here, while other associations, have announced', '2004 Education Schedule' with the subtext 'APA's complete payroll training schedule for 2004 is now available (Adobe pdf format)', and 'Fall Testing for CPP and FPC' with the subtext 'Enhance career opportunities with certification. Information from the APA. Fall testing site link'. There is also a '2003 Calendar' link and a small advertisement for 'GLOBAL PAYROLL MANAGEMENT CONSULTANTS'.

September 1 kicks off national payroll week, and there's no better place to learn more about it, or payroll information in general, than the American Payroll Association's Web site. This site has comprehensive coverage of all things payroll—current news, publications, certification programs and seminars, and payroll resources, to name a few.

Those looking to outsource payroll functions will find a wealth of resources in the vendor section, which includes a vendor database, vendor links, and buyer's guide. Payroll specialists may find the press center or links area (with links to state and federal agencies) especially useful. APA members have online access to additional resources, list serves, and an online hotline.
